When this war is over and you are back home, your book will mean more to you than it does now—in retrospect many irksome things will be forgotten—attainments and happier times remembered. You will have on record the part your group played in this war's history, which primarily is the purpose of this compilation, also to familiarize each section with the work being done by the Group as a whole. You will probably be surprised at its ramifications and attainments in the short period of twelve months. Of the obstacles and real battle behind these attainments—but a brief reference is made, to deal with it fully would mean another volume.

The subject matter in the book has, where possible, been treated pictorially—giving a truer picture than is possible in writing.

To any who may feel that their section or any part thereof has not been treated with the respect due, we offer an explanation. The period of time allotted for acquiring data, etc., for publication was too limited to permit of any other course than that of Brevity—as a result some matters may have been omitted.

To all those who have been helpful in making this publication possible we extend our sincere thanks.

Foreword

To you who have the honour to say "This is Our Book."

I say our book because each and everyone of us has had a part in making this history of the 81st Air Depot Group. True, there are many chapters yet unwritten including the final one of this war, but what has already been accomplished by you men has made this group history well worth recording. It shows pride in your group and a job well done, for men who have pride in their work can only know success.

On May 11, 1942, the 81st Air Depot Group was activated by official orders from the War Department at Washington. Then it was just an organization on paper, but during the past twelve months through building, planning, and hard work we have been able to make the "81st" an organization well known throughout this whole theater of operations.

At first we were spread all over Australia. Headquarters Squadron and Supply Squadron were activated at Brisbane. Repair Squadron was attached to the 4th Air Depot Group at Tocumwal. Some of our men were at Wagga Wagga; others at Amberley. A few more were down in Melbourne, but little by little each of these Squadrons and detachments were moulded into the outstanding group it is today. These first few officers and enlisted men had it tough, for there was no training period in the 81st. They learned as they carried on, yet performing a man's sized job. Fortunately that early cadre formed a nucleus of good men with whom we could build the group which has now grown many times its original strength.

Accomplishments in these past months have been equally great and many. Eagle Farm was practically built from the ground up. Many and varied types of Army Aircraft have been erected and repaired there. Modifications such as the A20 and B25 projects have been transformed into deadly striking power by you men. Also many million pounds of supplies stored in Garages, Wool Sheds and other improvised Warehouses have been shipped to combat areas and service units in this theater. Furthermore, urgently needed major engine overhaul facilities have been established. These and many other outstanding achievements will always be remembered when the 81st Air Depot Group is mentioned.

Many of you, who are serving behind the combat lines, may feel that you are not contributing much to the ultimate victory. You feel that you want to do something important. Believe me you have accomplished almost the impossible. Your efforts are vitally important to ensure complete victory.

With the knowledge we now possess and instilled with vigour on the success of past performance, the future holds no fears that each succeeding chapter will be just as outstanding as these which are here recorded. I only hope that you will be as proud of your book as I am of mine.

Headquarters

A VERY small office, previously a car display room, had temporarily to suffice for Headquarters. All personnel, i.e. Personnel Section and Command Section working in the same room. But six days after the inception of the Group, on May 17th, carpenters and labourers commenced expansion of office space, on the double. Round and under carpenters—in noise, dust and dirt—the business of activating and organizing the 81st commenced.

In these early days it was more a question of negotiating and laying foundations to get projects commenced, than actually accomplishing a great deal immediately.

Yet these same projects commenced under conditions, which to say the least were not helpful, with the added serious obstacles of, inexperienced personnel on work which needed skilled labour, difficulty in getting parts, tools, etc., in a very short time were functioning if not smoothly—with ever increasing momentum. As instance—

Supply.—From a very humble start has grown to be one of the largest Supply Sections overseas. Repair and Assembly.—Archerfield, Amberley Field and Eagle Farm.

The statistical charts reproduced in this book show the tremendous volume of work accomplished in this section.

Eagle Farm Repair Section was commenced by the 38 Bomb Squadron, transferred from Amberley Field for the work—until replaced by the 81st Repair Squadron from Tocumwal in August 1942.

Routing of all correspondence, telegrams, distribution, mimeograph and mail. The monthly average on Teletype messages: Incoming 1.021 (approximately); outgoing 1,496; total 2,517. For the same period, correspondence and messages, new correspondence 2,070, old correspondence 2,250; total 4,320.

Pay, service records, allotments, bonds, classifications are all handled by this Section.

The Draftsmanship of this Department comes under four categories—Mechanical, Architectural, Topographic and Chartographic. They commenced activities on September 14, 1942, the designing and drafting being carried out by Cpl. J. R. Lukes and Cpl. Y. M. Medalie, Pvt. L. LeFurgy (Chartographer) being attached later.

Plans and constructional details are drawn up for recording and constructional purposes. Dclineations made of Aircraft Installations—such as the recording of all modifications and improvements pertaining to aircraft. The most important project of this type being the nose and side guns and bomb rack installations in the B-25c.

Proposals are also made for Property Developments and plans drawn of all layouts of plots, locations, roads, runways, buildings, warehouses, and overhaul plants, etc. The most important consignment being the set up of Allison test stands. At present this Department is working on soundproof test stands for Allison overhaul.

The Chartographic Section handles the drafting of all statistical charts, traffic interpretations and graphic records. The drafting of all charts displayed in this publication were drawn by this Section.

Lt. Clark, Statistical Officer is also Unit Censor—on this Section he lets the poem below speak for him—it was presented him by a well-wisher.

> Now have no fear, little soldier dear, That we like censoring mail; Although it's true we find a few Gems in the common shale.

And we raise a smile at the careful guile Of the man who thinks us mutts; Who hides a word with tricks absurd That causes more flaming cuts!

Who wants to read your private creed? Believe me, it's no pleasure! The same old lies and alibies And new ones for good measure.

The same old tale gets very stale The thousandth time of reading; The shallow ruse and weak excuse, The sentimental pleading.

It isn't odd that we thank our God
That we are good forgetters;
Else we'd go insane wth futile strain
Of piles of b——— Army letters.

Statistical Control Section

Just an infant in the 31st, this Department is responsible for daily, weekly and monthly aircraft status reports, also weekly shipping recapitulation for permanent erection and maintenance records of all aircraft handled and assigned to 31st. Advisory on engine status and personnel 127a and B and critical items report.

Completion of statistical survey of the progress of 81st since its inception to the present time.

LT J.K.SHERAN

TRANSPORTATION OFFICER

Transportation

TRANSPORTATION, as one of the important activities of the 81st, began in a small way. A motor pool with three soldiers, two dispatchers, eight civilian truck drivers, four staff cars, eight trucks, three semi's, and one C2 wrecker struggled to cope with the overwhelming demand for transportation. Supplies arriving from the States were encroaching rapidly the very limited spaces on the docks, and had to be moved quickly and efficiently. These first few months meant only one thing—hard work and long hours.

Early in October Lt. Sheran succeeded Capt. Zinck (then Lieutenant) as transportation officer. At this time work was nearing completion on the two new motor pools—Eagle Farm handled the heavy duty vehicles, with Ascot Garage doing all servicing except for first initial work on the heavy duty trucks. The town motor pool handled for the most part the staff cars and the cargo trucks.

Growth? Yes! It has been tremendous—now are moving upwards of twenty million pounds per month. As the warehouses and various other units have built up, so transportation has progressed with them—indeed, it nearly loses itself in the growth of the other sections and in turn it is a part of their growth, for they could not thrive without the necessary transportation.

Driving personnel since activation has increased to approximately two hundred—staff cars now number 27, trucks 60, pick-ups and utilities 34, ambulances 4, trucks and trailers 21, C2 wreckers 3, plus many others.

Eagle Farm heavy duty handles the transportation of all salvaged aircraft within a three hundred-mile radius. This heavy duty group is on call twenty-four hours a day with men working without a definite time schedule. Hours of driving, eating hours or places mean nothing—they have a job to be done.

The ramifications of this unit are many and varied—but it suffices to say that this Department is just one more link in the 81st chain—a strong chain which gives the boys "up there" the wherewithal to push successfully forward.

Medical Section

The duties of this Section have a wide scope—it not only cares for 81st A.D.G., but also has Headquarters of 5th Air Force, and Headquarters of Air Service Command. To effectuate the work of this Group is Major Grover, Flight and Group Surgeon, as well as C.O. of 81st Dispensary. Assisting him are seven officers and twenty-five enlisted men.

The present Dispensary is a completely modern two-story building, one of the finest set-ups in Australia—truly a far-cry from the inadequate quarters of four small rooms, in which the section originated and the small personnel of two officers and seven enlisted men.

At present 1,500 enlisted men and 1,200 civilians come under the care of this unit. As many as 2,000 patients per month are treated.

Eagle Farm has its own Dispensary, caring for 750 men and—one wallaby.

All pilot examinations between Melbourne and Townsville are taken care of by the Dispensary.

Security

GUARDING—guarding against damage through carelessness, neglect or by deliberate intent—what is currently the world's most valuable material—strategical equipment, supplies and installations.

To offer maximum security for the Groups some twenty installations twenty-four hours a day, entails a patrol route of thirty-seven miles. Small trucks are used by the cruising guards. Each installation is checked three to four times hourly during the night, at irregular intervals, and sentinels posted where necessary. Doors are checked to see that they are locked, areas surrounding installations are checked, loiterers and intruders escorted away from these areas. Checking of identification discs of civilian employees, inspection of fire fighting equipment, watching for fire hazard and the accumulation of waste; in fact, one of the cars patrols for ten hours daily primarily for that purpose.

Security Section also keeps a close watch on 81st A.D.G. vehicles on the road, reporting any traffic violation, and if necessary confiscates any Army property left on the streets without protection.

All irregularities observed, however small are recorded and reported in detail.

The Security Section's aim is to rectify any hazardous condition or dangerous practice before it takes effect.

At the inception of 81st security, personnel totalled eight soldiers—present strength sixteen soldiers, twenty-two civilians. The civilians standing guard are issued with night sticks, and are instructed to call the nearest soldier in the event of any irregularity.

The patience and conscientiousness of this small vigilant group of men is to be admired—whose work is ever Watching and Guarding.

These boys take their work seriously as shown by these action shots.

Eagle Farm also has an equally efficient security section.

A NIGHT'S ROUTINE

December 6th the guards do say Was really quite a busy day, And there was really quite a bit Of excitement when the sun'd set.

The guard did call at 9.15
A fire near 14 to be seen,
But when upon investigation,
They found it was a near location.
So you can imagine the result,
The poor tired guards were all turned out,
And put upon a special alert,
With full instructions to insert.

At 9.30 our cruising boys,
Reported two mother's pride and joys
Were found acamping in a crate,
Somewhere within Warehouse 13 gate.
The case was full of felt and litter,
And the boys were all adither,
Smoking fags, three candles burning,
Trouble sure the boys were earning.
Matches, etc., all confiscated,
Boys went with parents, so trouble abated.

At 10 p.m. I do declare, What do you think the guard found here? A boy and girl on pleasure bent, They were removed with much repent, And escorted by our guard supreme From Warehouse Number Fifteen.

At 10.15, say what a cheek,
A civilian who was not discreet,
Was found beneath a sign reading—
We request there'll be "No Smokinc,"
With a much lit fag within his mouth.
The guard instructed "put it out."

At 10.45 the cruising squad
Came upon a man who to work had trod,
Who was causing quite a sensation
By not having his identification.
When questioned it was ascertained,
That he the disc had quite mislaid.
So the captain was at once contacted,
"Send him home," he, the guard instructed.

11 p.m. say, all's now serene, And our guards who'd been so keen, Did heave a sign and give a yawn, And wish it was more close to morn.

Mess Hall

Wednesday, December 23rd -an important day? Of course! The first meal was served in our new, wellequipped, and modern mess hall. This new set-up along with subsequent additions and alterations is one of the finest in any man's army. The change was a welcomed one after several months in the old mess at the main warehouse.

We think our mess-kit cleanup facilities are the tops. Suppose we let the pictures tell the rest of the story of this thrice-daily activity of ours.

THE DINING HALL.

Eagle Farm Mess Hall

Conditions have been improved considerably at this Mess Hall in the past few months.

With the setting up of two field kitchens for attached men, came a great improvement in the preparation of the menu and the variety and quality of the food handed round. The boys of this section claim that it is the best in the service.

Their appreciation was plainly shown, when they presented the Sergeant responsible for these improvements, with an iron crown and a home-made electric mixer.

Photographic Section

Photographic laboratory commenced June 10, 1942. Sergeant Neikes and Corporal Krause (then privates), who were both experienced photographic men, conceived the idea—Captain Laughlin was appointed photographic officer.

The Section now covers a wide range of activity such as the photographing of Army and Civilian Personnel, compilation of pictorial historical records or organization, photographic copies of records, accidents to planes, trucks, other vehicles, and equipment. Photographing instructional plans and sketches, repair plans, duplication work and service inventions. Photographs of military intelligence reports to Commanding Officers, record photographs of important buildings, equipment and installations. News photography and special work for Army Units—quite a step from just an idea, and in a period of eleven months.

All photographs in this book are the work of the Photo. Lab. boys—proof of their skill at their work. Without the willing co-operation of these boys this book would not have been possible in period of time allowed for compiling and publishing.

Headquarters Squadron had its fame For Clerks and Cooks and Guards, who elaim To be the best in everything. Operations, Engineers, Photomen, Supply-eers, Ordnance men and Chemicals, Officers, who work (like hell),

All these and more our Squadron make, But how many of them can bake a cake. There's Driskill with his ping-pong game, But now it's tennis. What's her name? Myerly with his blue-eyed blonde, Of him we hear she's very fond. High Point's favourite, Harvey Luck, Just see that grin, it cheers you up. Mahoney, with the golden tenor voice, At Red Cross shows, always first choice. Cooper, Master Sergeant Ray, No noise at night, he works all day. But still the guards, back in their pen, Make most of their racket after half past ten. Horsey with his eagle eye, Tells when your pistol is aimed too high. Harry Cutler's our baseball man. He plays like Fritz, with great clan. Hamner's never learned to fly, But we all know the reason why. Badolato writes so much, We're 'fraid he'll drive the censor nuts. Kalamajka gcts the mail, Madigan, too, from his Dee Dale. If you're looking for a he-man Just get a glimpsc of Sergeant Freeman. Benda, too, is quite a talker, And so are Hall, O'Brien and Whitacre. Jimmie Williams boxes well, Ask Blaske, how his eyes did swell. Joe Leone comes from South Philly, So you can bet that he's no "lily." Yale Medalie goes up and down The scale, you know, best fiddler in town. Burke would knock 'em off the track, Around "The Loop" in a GI hack. Hanson never gets enough Of toast and eggs and all that stuff. Now Gugala is sad and off the hub-Ann's letter put him in the brush-off club. But when we hear the Tiger's call, Out of Bed we all must fall, Unless it be LeDuc in bed, 'Cause in the morn he sleeps like lead. And Jimmie Maier just loves to fall Out of bed at bugle call. Let's not forget Supply Sarge Jim, He of the figures, slight and trim, And how he takes good care of us, But not without an awful fuss. And when the lights are on the blink, It's always Raef of whom we think. Of course we could go on for hours Telling 'bout this gang of ours; But we still believe performance counts, : So, watch our smoke, and deeds that mount, Till the day our Allics and us will go Through Berlin, Rome, and Tokyo.

HEADQUARTERS 81st AIR DEPOT GROUP Office of the Group Commander ARMY POST OFFICE 923

7 March, 1943

Subject: Bismarck Sea Victory.

To: Officers and Enlisted Men, 81st Depot Repair Squadron, APO 923.

1. It is a real pleasure to sit down and write you men this note of commendation for your part in the smashing Allied Victory off the coast of New Guinea. True, none of you were pilots, nor were you members of the crews, but a part of each of you rode through combat with those planes. The stirring success of the B-25's is ample proof of the good work you men started several months ago. To you men at Eagle Farm goes the credit for making the B-25 the hard hitting plane it is to-day.

2. When this program started, you were working on what you thought was a routine job and sometimes you no doubt figured "What's the use." Today you have your answer. None of us could have predicted what those changes would mean in a future battle. Now we know—a smashing victory!

3. We, who are far behind the actual battle lines, have a big job to do, namely, furnishing the fighting men with all the tools they need to do the best job. What happened the other day proves how important that job is.

4. In the near future you will probably be called on for more jobs just like the last, but I am fully confident that they will be just as successful and yield just as great a return.

R. L. FRY, Lieut. Col. Air Corps, Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH AIR FORCE APO 925

12 March, 1943.

SUBJECT: Commendation.

To: All Organizations, Fifth Air Force.

- 1. The recent spectacular action against enemy shipping in the Bismarck Sea was the result of a concerted and determined effort on the part of all elements of the Fifth Air Force.
- 2. That enough airplanes were in commission to carry out the attack in sufficient strength to achieve the marked degree of success which was attained, reflects credit of the highest degree upon the maintenance personnel of both the tactical units and the service units of our Air Force.
- 3. That all classes of supplies necessary to make the attack successful were delivered at the time and at the places required, is an indication of the high standard of service constantly being rendered by the supply services of the Air Force.
- 4. The effectiveness of the forward fire of the airplanes making the low level attacks on the Japanese convoy is ample testimony of the skillful workmanship of the personnel responsible for the design and installation of the forward firing fixed guns in these airplanes.
- 3. A field modification of bomb fuzes carried out within a very short time prior to the attack proved eminently successful for low altitude bombing and examplifies the tireless energy and ceaseless effort on the part of the services to make available to our combat units the very best possible means of prosecuting the war.
- 6. The results which were attained by our combat crews were made possible by the efficiency of our ground elements, without whose complete co-operation successful operations against our enemy cannot be accomplished.
- 7. It is the desire of the Commanding General to express his appreciation of the fine work done by all units of the Fifth Air Force, which so enabled the combat crews to carry out their most difficult missions. This same spirit of co-operation assures us of continued successful air operations against the Japanese.

The 81st Repair Squadron

March 13, 1943.

Angels with greasy faces and coveralls—that to you Officers and Men is the proper slang word for the men of the 81st.

Those unsung heroes of the Army Air Corps, who day after day, month after month, keep the engines of those cloud-chasing monsters purring like kittens.

And when I say "Unsung Heroes" I mean that these men work, not for the glory of publicity, but for the good old Red, White and Blue which stands for liberty, freedom and peace for their families and for themselves.

Surely, we stay behind the lines, in fact, hundreds of miles, but every one of us is just as good a soldier as any doughboy on the field. Combining a soldier and an airplane mechanic, or a radio operator, or a weather observer, requires extensive training and the will to succeed. Herein we have the average man of the 81st Repair Squadron.

The 81st Repair Squadron has men trained to perform any duty in the field of aviation. We have the most experienced Test Pilots in the South West Pacific Area. Who helps make them the best?—Again its these Angels with greasy faces.

The 81st has taken part in many a battle—no, not actually fighting at the front, but by making available the planes and material needed there. In the battle of the Bismarck Sea, a major blow against the Japs, the B25's strafed and bombed until there were no survivors left of the vast Japanese invasion fleet, which consisted of twenty-two ships laden with troops. These B25's were equipped with eight stationary guns in the sides and in the nose. The idea was originated and carried out by the men of the 81st, and we feel that we did a damn good job. The installation plans were designed and the installation carried out from scrap by us, so you see we were directly connected with the Battle of the Bismarck Sea. Glory?—Hell; No, that is just another step towards 'Frisco for us, and another sock on Tojo's jaw.

When we first took over this field there were only two hangars and two uncompleted runways with about 200 men. Now we have seven hangars and numerous other warehouses and administrative buildings and a personnel of approximately 800 men.

We repair planes, we maintain planes, and we even build them out of the junk pile.

Show me another outfit that can equal the 81st and well—Oh Hell! it's useless to try because there is no better on the face of this earth. If you call this bragging—well . . .

They have had over a year's service in Australia, and during this time, they have put more airplanes in combat condition than any other unit in the South-West Pacific Area.

On leaving the boundaries of the United States, their services were voluntary. Yes,—they volunteered their services so that they may become members of Pursuit Fighter Teams fighting in combat zones.

Their ambitions however, on arriving in Australia, were never realized, and through unfortunate circumstances, they became Casuals—"Men without a Squadron." It was during this period as Casuals, that they have established themselves as a unit capable of doing any task assigned to them. Their work was varied, and their methods crude, but obstacles were of no hindrance to these men, big or small.

Being without an Organization, and with no one to represent them, they never had the slightest possibility of promotion. Despite this fact, they carried on just the same—untired, unresentful, and resourceful. No sooner did a new shipment of airplanes arrive for assembly or repair, whether it was an A-24, P-40, P-39, B-26, or an A-20a, it wasn't long after, that these same airplanes showed their fighting ability in combatant areas, in the best of combat shape.

Came July 4th, 1942. These men were no longer the "Forgotten Men" of the Air Corps, for it was on this day that they became assigned to the 81st Depot Repair Squadron. It was with this organization that they have helped to make the A-20A and the B-25, the deadliest combat planes in the area.

Reading of the many successes being accomplished today by our aircraft in the South-West Pacific Area, it is no wonder then, that we should be proud of these men, the Armorers of the 81st, who have done so much to make these successes possible.

S/Sgt. Joseph A. Romanowski, Eagle Farm.

Let's Reconnoitre Eagle Farm

I'll enquire if they'll permit Us look round Eagle Farm a bit. Yes; Major Hoffman—he's good enough To let us see them do their stuff. So folks we'll commence our tour As interest here, you'll find, I'm sure.

First the IIANGARS TWO, THREE AND FOUR. Installations here galore
And planes aplenty here you'll see
In stages of assembly.
They set them up and tear them down
With ne'er a part upon the ground.
They inspect, erect and modify
A plane till it is fit to fly.
Guns and bomb racks they install;
They also paint and grease them all.
Now we must be on our way
If we're to see it all today.

Over here you see the LINE CREW Which search and check for things not true. They test all planes to find a fault And when defect they do report They sure do get right to the heart, Dismantle and replace spent part. For their job is to do repair On planes which have been in the air. They ground test and inspect a plane Till it is in the air again. So friends we'd better slip along For the time is getting on.

Now we have the ALERT CREW. They fill the planes with oil and fuel; On the runway they put the lights To allow the planes to land most nights. They clean and clear the taxi strip To allow the Pilot land his ship. They haul all crashes to repair, For they cannot leave them lying there. Well my friends our time is short, If we don't hurry we'll see naught.

Now we have the WELDING SHOP Which you'll find is very hot,
For right in here they weld all breaks,
And the steel once in plain plates
They anneal and bend to different shapes.
Here you'll see them weld a part
With Oxy, Acetylene and Arc;
Here they solder, do not gum
Using Silver, Soft and Aluminium
They cut and braze the whole day long;
Now we'd better travel on.

Now we have the ARMAMENT. To them the guns are always sent. They test, clean and inspect;
A bore must not have onc defect.
They level and test fire them all;
Mounts and brackets they install;
They send them out for firing proofs;
They fit ejection and feed chutes;
Ammunition cans they load;
Install the guns, hoth side and nose.
Now my friends we've seen this crew
We'll move along, I think, don't you?

Now we have the BOMB RACK CREW Which I think will interest you. They synchronize, clean and adjust, For these boys sure dislike rust. They install Frag racks and chutes So bomb hits will not be flukes; Controls connected to Cockpit And nose section of each ship.

Now I think we've seen all here So let us have a look elsewhere.

Here we have the MACHINE SHOP. Miscellaneous jobs there's quite a lot. They make the nuts and bolts and screws And sometimes they make even tools; They make the ammunition tabs, Accessories from iron slabs; They lathe and turn them into shape Re-making parts that have a break. I do not wish to hurry you, But there is such a lot to view.

Here is the SHEET METAL SHOP. They repair the fuselage, hottom to top; They mount the blisters, right and left, And cover the frame of each project; They install the hottom concussion plate; Can support and centre mount hrace; They fabricate and install gun mounts Heating ducts, and all that counts. Now my friends time's getting short So we'll continue on our walk.

Here all things are ELECTRICAL.
They wire bomb racks and circuits all;
They service the hatteries on the sides;
Adjust the switches—connect the wires;
Tachometers they do check;
Conduits for circuits they erect
Relays and fuses they install;
Junction Box and Booster Coil;
So we'll now continue through
For we still have much to do.

Here is the CABLE DEPARTMENT Who in each and every consignment Connect the cables to the guns. Tension adjusted—cables restrung And the turnbuckles safetied And all the pulleys realigned; Tubes and dash plates they install. Now my friends 1 think that's all, So on our way we'd better be For we still have lots to see.

In this shop called SUPERCHARGER They overhaul the regulator. Tolerances are also checked And reassembled after test; Turbine wheels they sand blast; Diaphrams they too, do cast, And Impellers they do scrape To help along the air intake. Well my friends that's nearly all For the night's about to fall.

The PROPELLERS they keep over there They will not stand much wear and tear. They balance and check them each time An airplane's brought into line; They paint and keep them in repair So they will cut and draw the air, For if they are not balanced right An airplane will not take flight. The rest we'll see on our way home So on our way we'd better roam.

I guess it must be time for chow As the MESS HALL is filling now. Good food I guess they're serving round As there's not many off to town. So I think our way we'll make Towards the guard at the main gate. SECURITY is his section, Intruders they put on the run, They stand guard both day and night. Well, thank you, Sir—and Goodnight.

Test Pilots

First arrival of P-38's at Eagle Farm was in August 1942—Great Day.

First test flight was carried out by Major Hoffman on August 20th, 1942, the following day Captain Farrior took the second test flight.

Capt. Lambert, C.O. of Repair Squadron was responsible to a large degree for the initial development of Eagle Farm.

participant in a pre-season two game knockout tournament in which ten teams are participating and have up to date one victory against no defeats so far under their belt. A few new players have been added to the roster: S/Sgt. Kindle, Pvts. Murray, Rickert and Fisher. With this new addition to the squad, Co-Captains Cass and Phare and the boys hope to cop off the honours in the tournament now under way (basing their claims on the fine record practice games won prior to the start of this tournament), and (if the war lasts long enough) the new league that will be formed at the completion of the present tournament.

CAPT. SIMPSON, C.O., Repair Squadron.

1st Sct. Simmons, Repair Squadron.

WARRANT OFFICERS

Left to Right

Anderson, Dorvan K.; Blois, George A.; Renfroe, Edward E.; Stralik, John J.; Engle, Loy F.; Marlin, Paul E.

Ordnance

This Section was assigned to 81st Group, and attached to Repair Squadron, Eagle Farm, on January 15, 1943, taking over from the 677th Ordnance. 1st Lt. P. E. Davit being appointed Ordnance Officer; 2nd Lt. Schuyler, Property Officer; and T/Sgt. P. Benda, Section Chief of Headquarters Section.

In the commencement the total personnel was nine soldiers, now twenty-seven, all these men have had experience in battle zones and have a working knowledge of the guns they are handling. For the first four months this section was working under canvas, but on April 20, 1943, were installed in a new building.

It is the work of this Section to repair, clean, check and test 30, 50, and 20 mil. machine guns, as well as all types of Service pistols, rifles and 1917 A1 30 cal. machine guns (used by ground staff). They also service all gun turrets and handle the decosmoling and assembling of all new guns.

It will be interesting to note that all 50 cal. guns installed in the B-25's used in the Bismarck Sea Battle were handled by this Section, turning out approximately 25 per day. Three specialized men of this Section also handled all the 20 and 37 mm. guns installed in the P-38's and 39's respectively, which passed through this Base. Also attached are four specialized men-three mechanics and one welder-who provide all new parts deemed necessary. They also have four of their personnel stationed with the 22nd Ordnance (Central Ordnance Warehouse) to supervise the handling and delivery of all supplies for the 81st Group—such as cleaning and preserving material, guns, parts, and ammunition.

For a period of five months this Section has handled approximately 1,000 guns.

SUPERCHARGER OVERHAUL

Supercharger

SGT. DAVIS in charge; Mr. Nelson—General Electric Representative—advisory.

This Section dates right back to "Tocumwal" days, the move to Eagle Farm has been a very recent one.

Commenced with a personnel of six soldiers—has now a personnel of twelve—eleven soldiers, one civilian.

The first overhaul doubles the life of a supercharger. The second overhaul 50 per cent.

The statistical chart on opposite page gives the value of this overhaul work.

First unit was delivered from Eagle Farm in October 1942—to date a total of 230 units have been delivered.

and Reclamation

This Section in the commencement was handled by the 81st Repair Squadron personnel, Eagle Farm, there being at that period, no new material for assembly. Upon the arrival of new equipment, etc., this work was turned over to civilian personnel. Soldiers have the work of dismantling damaged planes and the sorting and classification of parts.

Crashed airplanes are sent in from all areas and combat zones to this Section, and any plane that crashes within a radius of 300 miles is picked up and brought in by the 81st Heavy Duty Motor Pool.

The plane is then dismantled and each part is sorted and tagged. All parts are inspected by specialized men and any mechanical parts which are repairable are repaired. The usable parts sorted and resorted into their various categories and nomenclatures. The parts which cannot be repaired and are of no value as spares are segregated to their various sections, such as rubber, aluminium, steel, etc.

All engines pass through the Engine Section of Salvage Department and Factory Representatives advise on procedure. Engines are cleaned and then shipped to an overhaul firm.

Lt. Lingenfelder, Reclamation and Classification Officer.

Records of Achievement

Machine Shop.—The boys of this Department have completed 2,733 work orders; 606 for the B-25, 156 for the P-38, and 1,071 general work orders.

Welding Shop.—Here we have the completion of 1,788 general work orders, plus 1,403 orders for the B-25.

Evidence of the enthusiastic and excellent work of the boys of these two units is clearly shown by the above records.

"NEVILLE COURT," the lovely home of Col. Fry, was used as a rendezvous for the party.

Pumpkin Jack-o-lanterns lighted the pathway to the house.

Corn stalks decorated the grounds.

A turkey strutted about in one corner of the courtyard.

An orchestra played while guests danced on the patio.

Supper was buffet style with turkey aplenty.

Highlight of the night was General Connell's speech, when presenting Colonel Fry with one dumbell.

It is the custom in the Air Corps to publicly proclaim and make a suitable token award to its distinguished sons for the accomplishment of worthy deeds.

In this instance Col. Fry, with 20,000 flying hours to his credit in the air mail (20,000 leagues under the sea) (with gestures), did on or about 25th November, at Eagle Farm, accompanied by his trusted assistant, Major Monay, take off in a Dutch B-22, familiarly known as a Falcon, for a joy ride and familiarization flight. After leaving the ground, Col. Fry did, with scrupulous care, refrain from retracting the under-carriage. He coasted about the heavens for quite an appreciable time, conjuring up all sorts of things to say to and about the guy who said these Dutch crates would cruise at 150 miles an hour. Didn't the air speed register only 135 miles with nose depressed?

Thoroughly disgusted with the performance, or lack of performance, of the old crate, he, Col. Fry returned to the vicinity of Eagle Farm and made his approach for a landing.

Then he, Col. Fry, did v-e-r-y, v-e-r-y carefully push the wrong button, retracting the landing gear, and, despite the screech of the klaxon warning horn, shouts and arm waving of his passenger, and in the full glare of the red spotlight from the tower operator, he, Col. Fry, made what is considered to be the smoothest belly landing on record.

Col. Fry, it is my duty and pleasure to present to you a token well merited and appropriate to the occasion—One Dumbell.

"Activation Party"

The boys really "went to town" on Activation Party Night (July 1st, 1942).

We'll let the pictures tell the story.

Non-Commissioned Officers' Club

ORGANIZED by the First Sergeants of the Group and financially started by factory representatives, the club in a month grew in membership from 50 to 225.

Shots shown here are of the opening night, October 1942.

Credit goes to Sgt. Sneider (Secretary) for keeping the club "alive." Has done and is doing a fine job.

The boys aren't going to leave things as they are—have plans for improvements—such as adding a reading room, lounge chairs, etc.

On dance nights, an American band officiates.

Good luck, boys, keep the good work going.

Col. P. Gunn whose combat experience and assistance made the 50 cal. nose gun installation possible. Col. Gunn's decorations are Silver Star, Flying Cross, Citation for Philippine Campaign.

Allison Overhaul

A Conversation—Result—Allison Overhaul Assembly Plant.

WHEN approached G.M.H. agreed to "give it a go."

The schedule set down was-the delivery of the first overhauled engine in eight weeks. The first engine was delivered on the 15th November 1942, seven weeks after the commencement, beating the "deadline" by one week. Packed into these seven weeks was quite some action. First a plant had to be built, then 1,500 special tools, 300 assembly stands, erection of petitioning, monoroles, electrical service, water and gas all had to be made and installednecessitating the calling in of fifty odd contractors.

The training of a personnel of 180 men and women absolutely untrained, with no previous experience with internal combustion engines. Yet, the first overhauled engine was delivered one week ahead of schedule.

Originally the plant was 20,000 sq. ft. of floor space, layout suitable to produce five engines per day—this has been increased in six months to 40,000 sq. ft. to produce ten engines per day.

At the present time there are about 530 employees.

These overhauled engines must pass a very rigid test before being O.K.d, they have the same test as a new engine.

A.N.A. Instrument Shop

HEREAT A.N.A. Instrument Shop has been done the greater part of instrument overhaul, repair, and adjustment for the 81st A.D.G.

This highly technical work is carried on by specially-trained group of men and women under the astute supervision of Mr. Griffin—a former Flight Sergeant in the R.A.A.F.

Work is done on practically all types of aircraft instruments such as: tachometers, compasses, selsyn instruments, altimeters, gyro's and pressure gauges.

When we think of the value of instruments in making for safety, reliability, and economy in aircraft operation, plus the aid to the pilot in the handling of ships, we fully realize the importance of the fine job being done here at A.N.A.

WE MAY BE "DOWN UNDER" BUT WE'RE STILL ON TOP!

OH BOY, WAIT 'TILL I TELL THE GIRLS AT THE BARN .. EVEN RIPLEY WON'T BELIEVE THIS!

First Night in Army

After listening to the sergeant for a half hour on Military Discipline, I was handed a pamphlet—this is what I read: PARACHUTE—CAT; RIP-CORD—TAIL OF CAT; LIEUTENANT—ROOM-ORDERLY; BARRACKS—HANGAR; CHOW—WASH DAY; BUNK—WALL-LOCKER; PREPARE FOR INSPECTION—DRESS IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES; MESS-KIT—BARRACKS BAG FULL OF DIRTY CLOTHES; SALUTE—WAVE AT; POST EXCHANGE—NURSE'S QUARTERS; FIELD EQUIPMENT—AIRPLANE; HAVERSACK—TUG; DISCIPLINE—FIRST-SERGEANT.

I was glad I joined the army. I wanted to have a place with Uncle Sam, and I had it. I knew that the army was going to be tuff going, but I wanted more than anything else to have a well-built body. I started out in this army quite confused. I couldn't catch on to things very rapidly, but that was because I was brand new.

I studied my pamphlet very carefully, I caught on to things very quickly—in my mind. If someone would say to me that I should clean under my bunk I knew that meant WALL LOCKER. I had things down pat—still in my mind.

I was up bright and early the first morning and the second thing I heard was a voice say . . .

"I want every man to sweep and mop under his bunk."

I knew that meant wall locker, and so I set out to sweep. I had quite a time because the locker was so near the floor that I had to move the thing. I finally got the thing pushed over and so I swept and mopped.

"What are you moving your wall locker for?" a friend asked.

I hesitated. "Did you hear what the man said? He said to sweep and mop under your bunk."

That fellow looked at me kind of goofy-eyed, but I did not pay any attention to him. He wasn't doing what the man said to do anyway. He was mopping some place else. He didn't read his Pamphlet!

The Discipline seemed to be very interested in me. He told me that he was going to take me out and show me the proper methods of saluting. He couldn't trick me—I read and studied my pamphlet. Here we go.

"Get ready," said the Discipline. "Here comes an officer and when I tell you to salute I want you to salute."

He was trying to catch me, but I knew better.

"Now salute," he whispered.

I waved at him. For some reason or other the Discipline seemed to be disappointed in me. The officer walked up to me and asked:

"Don't you know your Discipline, soldier?"

"Yes, I do," I said smiling.

"Well then why didn't you salute me?" asked the officer with a terrifying disposition.

"I did salute you." I talked as rough as he did.

"Where's your discipline, wise guy?" he asked with a wry face.

"He's right here with me," I said knowingly. "I don't believe you know your Discipline either."

I didn't get on very good that time for some reason or other. The Discipline left me and told me he would see me later. The officer and the Discipline walked on together. Oh me, such is life!

The Discipline must have left the officer, anyway the guy came around a tree and halted me saying: "I want to see you immediately at the barracks."

I went down to the barracks and I saw a lot of airplanes down there. I did not know what he wanted me for around airplanes. I waited and waited and the Discipline never showed up. I guess he didn't want me after all. I didn't worry—then.

I went back to the place where I slept and there I found him. He had put one over on me.

"All you fellows who are in here will prepare for inspection," said the Discipline.

I knew what that meant so I got out my civilian clothes, washed and shaved, and was ready to go wherever they wanted me to go.

I noticed some of the other fellows hadn't memorized their pamphlets because they were getting out a lot of trash and putting it on their bed. I was sitting on my bed waiting for action. All the boys were standing by their beds when in walked three officers and the Discipline.

my feet so that someone could slide a box in front of them and I didn't say a word. I was just as still as the other guys.

"For Heaven's sake, what's the matter with this guy?" The one officer asked the Discipline. They were looking at me, to my surprise!

Get out your field equipment and haversack immediately," cried the officer.

I ran out of the sleeping quarters, went down to the barracks, got hold of a haversack, hooked it to a field equipment and called it mine. Away I went. I brought everything up to where the officers were, went inside and told them I had it.

"Where," they said in unison.

"Out there," I said.

"Listen soldier," said one of the officers turbulently, "don't be funny."

I didn't argue with them. I hate that Discipline and I don't like officers. I ran up to my bed, I took off my civilian clothes. I didn't feel as the rest of the boys did. Someone said:

"Get your Mess Kit and prepare for Chow."

I couldn't find my Mess Kit. Someone knew what I was looking for and told me it was under there. So it was. My Mess Kit and all. I looked inside and there were the dirty clothes all right. I couldn't figure out how I got them dirty when I was only in the army one day. But there was everything. I grabbed it and started to run like the other boys. I carried my Kit down the steps and followed the others. I had a larger Mess Kit than theirs because I didn't see where theirs were. I wanted to get to the head of the line, but I remembered what the Discipline said. "Don't try to get 'head of the other fellow, it'll cause trouble."

I approached some food and a guy asked where my Mess Kit was.

"Here," I said, holding it up so he could see it.

"Go to the Post Exchange and eat your dinner, I'm not fooling with you," said the wise guy.

"Okey, okey," I whispered to myself and thought: If it's time to eat I'll go eat. I went to the Post Exchange and knocked on the door.

"Come in," a voice said amiably.

"Oh-o-o-o, get out of here immediately," said a nurse.

I got out of there because I thought I had better get out. I went to the Lieutenant because I had not been treated right the whole day. He was doing some sweeping and he told me that we were going to have a formation soon. He was right.

"Have any of you fellows ever made a parachute jump?" asked the Discipline.

I held up my hand because I had.

"Do you know everything about parachutes?"

"Yes," I said hoping to redeem myself.

"Step forward. You'll show these fellows how it's done. Come with me," said the Discipline again.

He lead me to a Field Equipment—for what reason I don't know.

"Get in there," he said with a bang. "Put this on."

I put on a thing that was a coat only it had a lot of blocks on the bottom. The Field Equipment started to fly in the sky.

"When you drop be sure to pull the Rip-Cord," a man said.

"Where's my parachute," I asked back at 'm.

"You have it on," he said with a grimace.

I was confused, but I thought-that's the army for you.

"Now when you make the parachute jump there will be a car down there to pick you up," again the man said something.

"Do you see this iron handle on my 'chute?"

"Yes, I see it."

"When you jump, pull the same thing on yours."

Things were becoming too confused.

"Now jump," he said pushing me off of the Field Equipment.

I jumped, but I could not find that iron handle which he was telling me about —so I forgot about it.

I said to myself, "I bet when I get down there they wont even have that car waiting for me either.

By that time I woke up.

SGT. JAMES GUILLAUME.

That you can't mix alcohol with gasoline is an old adage. But that you can't mix alcohol with horseflesh is a new one. We have Jack Pendleton and Roscoe Wilson's word for it... as well as their appearance, which in this case speaks louder than words.

After struggling for fully twenty minutes trying to climb on to the old critter, they were all set for a speedy ride from "that pub" back to camp. However, with no bridle, saddle or spur, the job of directing the thing toward camp was a problem in navigation itself. In short, it required another bottle of "Aussie plonk" between them in order to carry on the strenuous operations. A reserve supply was carefully tucked inside buttoned shirts.

With the smell of plonk in her nostrils, the old mare was just what she used to be. With a jump she was off in a cloud of dust. So were Jack and Roscoe.

The "bitchman" came up and slapped them both in so many places all at once, that they were still "Plonk Drunk" the next day. But a trip to the dispensary and a slip marked "quarters" helped to ease the pain considerably.

Motor Supply Company

This firm was originally an Automotive Repair Shop, with no working knowledge of aircraft mechanics. In the commencement they experienced much difficulty in acquiring authentic information—especially pertaining to Tachometers—as no technical data was obtainable, but upon the receipt of this information, operations went ahead in leaps and bounds. Test benches were set up for the testing of carburetors, hydraulics and all aircraft instruments.

De Haviland Propeller Shop

 $\star$

The work of overhauling and reconditioning of all types of propellers is carried out by a branch of the De Haviland Company, who in September 1942 sent representatives up from Sydney to set up and organize a plant capable of carrying out this specialized work. They took over a section of a Bus Depot and commenced training personnel, as experienced tradesmen were not obtainable. By October this plant was functioning competently and their first consignments were completed.

The Propeller Shop is set up in true assembly line style—at the present time turning out an average of twenty propellers per week. There are forty civilians employed, men and women who have been trained in this work shop.

They also overhaul and repair all propeller accessories—such as governors and electrical equipment.

This firm mainly deals with the testing and reconditioning of carburetors, magnetoes, and generators, also the testing of vacuum hydraulics. Magneto and generator test blocks and other necessary machinery have been set up, occupying an entire floor. The output of this department is 200 units per week.

Their greatest problem was staffing, owing to the shortage of experienced men. In the commencement six men were employed in this department, now sixty-two men are engaged on this work.

Another important part of the work of this company is the testing and reconditioning of spark plugs. This department commenced with six girls and one man, now thirteen girls and four men are employed—turning out 15,000 plugs per week.

This unit had its inception in part of Headquarters Squadron's building on Church Street. Growth of the unit necessitated a change—early in October the new pool was opened at its present location, providing facilities for greater efficiency of operation.

Soon after the beginning of this unit, nine W.N.E.L. drivers were assigned to staff cars. These women drivers showed great spirit in surmounting many difficulties in the early days of operation, and we pay tribute to the excellent teamwork and the fine job they have done and are still doing. At present there are twenty staff car drivers and twenty-seven staff cars.

HEADQUARTERS 81st AIR DEPOT GROUP

Office of the Group Commander ARMY POST OFFICE 923

RLF/m
24 December, 1942

MEMORANDUM:

To: All Military and Civilian Personnel of the 81st Air Depot Group.

Tomorrow we celebrate Christmas Day, and with it comes my heartiest greetings to you all. To many of us it is a different kind of Christmas than we have ever experienced before, for we are spending it thousands of miles from those loved ones who made this day mean so much. That part is unfortunate, but it should not dampen the spirit of the day, for actually we are here to ensure that the true spirit of Christmas may live forever.

With the close of the year comes the opportunity of commending you on a job well done. With confidence for our future success, I extend my sincere appreciation to all members of this Command for the enviable record of the 81st Air Depot Group in its first year of service. For your wholehearted co-operation, for your initiative, your enthusiasm, and for your hard work and earnest effort, I am deeply grateful. You may be sure we have contributed in no small degree to the success of our allied efforts in this field.

It is our job to furnish the fighting men with every possible tool necessary to do the most efficient job. We must not fail. We cannot fail. How well they do their job depends on how efficiently we do ours. We cannot rest on past laurels. We dare not even be content to do just as well again next year, rather we must work hard and reach our highest effort, so that we may ensure lasting peace in our own Christian way of life.

I would also like to wish each of you the best of New Years. If we work through 1943 with all the energy and initiative we possess, it cannot help but be a year filled with good news and success, which will send us far along the road towards final peace, and which will make even more worthwhile those things of which we are now deprived.

R. L. FRY, Lt. Col., Air Corps Commanding.

Subject: Bismarck Sea Victory.

To: Officers and Enlisted Men Connected with Depot Supply.

1. It is a real pleasure to sit down and write you men this note of commendation for your part in the smashing Allied Victory off the coast of New Guinea. True, none of you were pilots, nor were you members of the crews, but a part of each of you rode through combat with those planes. The stirring success of the B-25, along with the other Bombers and Fighter Aircraft, is ample proof of the good work you men have been doing.

2. Working long hours and under unfavourable conditions, you sometimes no doubt figured "What's the use." Today you have your answer. None of us could have predicted what those long hours would mean in a future battle. Now we know . . . a smashing victory!

3. We, who are far behind the actual battle lines, have a big job to do, namely, furnishing the fighting men with all the tools that they need to do the best job. What happened the other day proves how important that job is.

4. In the near future you will probably be called on for some jobs just like the last, but I am fully confident that they will be just as successful and yield just as great a return.

R. L. FRY, Lieut. Col., Air Corps Commanding.

Supply

Supply was organized here with a full complement of 121 men. As a group it was transferred from the 4th A.D.G., forming a basis to give immediate functioning as an 81st Supply.

The beginning was in the Main Warehouse, plus a few small reserve warehouses. Immediate demand for expansion necessitated getting more warehouses. Today—still expanding—supply has twenty-two warehouses and storage buildings. The main warehouse, formerly carrying all live or moving stock, now is the Depot Supply Office housing administrative personnel (including

SHIPPING & RECEIVING

Mr. CHAPMAN IN BACKGROUND, WITHOUT COAT

Shipping and Receiving

The Shipping and Receiving Department commenced operations on or about April 1st, 1942. The Department, as such, existed only when there was something to ship and this necessitated the entire Supply Squadron calling a halt in their regular routine to aid in the job to be done.

Early in the piece a civilian, Mr. W. O. Barber, was hired—records now began to enter the scene—more civilians were hired as packers, clerks, and bull-gang (labourers). With these and many other far-reaching developments the section became a self-operating unit.

Goods are received and shipped by air, boat and rail. Many and great were the problems in these methods of transportation: By air—a lack of airplanes and personnel; by rail—need for more cars, loading facilities and space. Gradually, intuitive measures ironed out these difficulties, until to-day we have an efficient handling of supplies.

Supplies upon arrival are segregated into their respective warehouses and duly classified—all parts being sorted, checked, and allocated into their proper bin spaces. Reserve Warehouses are used for those supplies not in immediate demand and held there for later call.

Air ferry shipments from the U.S. receive special treatment. Supplies thus shipped are given immediate attention and despatched by air to the requisitioning organization—with A.O.G. orders getting full priority. This service often requires less than two weeks for delivery from the States to the point of requisition.

Alacrity and accuracy are the watchwords of the Shipping and Receiving Section. Supplies needed by the combat forces must be dispatched quickly and without error as to type and quantity of parts.

The slogan of this section, which is the entire Supply Squadron's feeling, is—
"It is our responsibility from the time we become aware of a need until that need is satisfactorily supplied."

In one year's time the Shipping and Receiving Section has grown from scratch to the point where there are 162 people employed in only shipping and receiving of Air Corps Supplies. The present program is to double this number in order to keep up with the demand of our fighting forces.

In Receiving: A Record.—Receipts from January 1st to May 11th, 1943, were 25,195,575 pounds.

Supply

We tell about 81st Supply,
T' largest organized o'erseas today.
The original Group came from 4th Supply
With 121 men as their main stay.
At t' present time they've lots more men,
Having 121 soldiers and 912 civilian.
Of Warehouses they have twenty-two,
Where stocks are kept of all things new.
Of all things most import for war
Which they check and stack and ship galore.
1, 7 and 14 has fuel, paint and chemical,
Photographic, commercial and aerial.
No. 2 has t' instruments and dry goods,
As clothes and silks for parachutes.
No. 3 it is the Carpenter Shop.

No. 4 have parachutes to repair and stock.

No. 5 it has the special tools. No. 6 all stuff for Signals.

No. 8 has engines and office supplies, Also the rubber and tubes and tyres.

No. 9 has all commercial hardware.

No. 10 they store miscellaneous goods there.

No. 11 receive shipments boat 'n plane.

No. 12 and 13 stock all parts for airplane.

No. 15 keep spares for overhaul plants.

No. 16 t' guns and parts for Ordnance.

No. 17's the Clete-tractor parts storage.

No. 18's the store for local purchase.

No. 19 has equipment for Chemical Warfare.

No. 20 store Signal Corps equipment "With Care."

No. 21 has appliances electrical, Photo equipment 'n cameras aerial. No. 22 stores aircraft accessories, As propellers and all necessities. Now t' Main Warehouse holds t' offices Of Administrative Officers. For from here all sections are controlled And records of great expansion told, For there really is great credit due To t' boys who have but one end in view. And make the 81st Supply A respected Group with record high, Who keep supplies right to the fore, For every South Pacific Corps. And help all our Air Corps Chaps To do their damnedest to beat the Japs.

THE REPAIR FLARE

Now we've talked a lot about supplies, But what about the other Guys Who you'll admit do have a flare For doing a good job of repair Which helps to keep planes in the air.

Their Faces covered with grease and grime They slave and work to make the line; They pull down and replace spent parts, And sweat and swear until she starts, With but one resolve within their hearts.

To get the planes ahigh and flying, And give the boys the chance of trying To blast Japan right off this earth, That's the great obsession of the 81st.

-Non-descript.

We have a smart Colonel, As everybody knows, And it really doesn't pay To step upon his toes.

His one obsession as we know,
Is to do his best against the foe.
And so it does not pay we find,
To do your work without a mind.

For if to him you once should say,
I'll leave it to another day.
He'll say, "My Boy, we've a war to win,"
And cause a most unholy din.

If some request you should decline,
To act upon at proper time.
You'll find yourself upon a boat,
In khaki pants and khaki coat,
Well on your way to do your bit,
Where things are tough and you need grit.

-URGENT: Wanted one tin hat.

A TOAST

Here's to Tojo's adversities,
May they be long and many;
Here's to the boys of the 81st,
Who keep the supplies up ready.

Here's to the men in command, Who work persistently; To see they keep up the demand, Of supplies consistently.

Here's to all who work
To end this dire turmoil;
Who their duties never shirk,
As they do their daily toil.

And last but not least, let's all
Take off our hats and cheer,
The boys who are in the brawl,
As they know not defeat nor fear.

-A. Nondescript.

The 81st as we boys know Do not go out to fight the foe, But in our activities we guess We help our fighters do their best. Sure some of us—we will retort That the job we do—is of small import, But believe you us-when we say this Things surely would go all amiss, If these small jobs were left undonc. No matter how small—it's important one So all buddies—we do contend That our job well done-assists the end. For those boys up there on us depend For planes and gear and all that stuff That will assist them hold their bluff. So let's keep chins up and make the best Of that job which sure is such a pest; For when we meet the folks back home They'll say—the 81st sure deserves a throne; For some day soon we'll be on our way Back to the States-Boy! what a day.

One of the boys in the Armament Shop, CPL. STANLEY C. TRIZINSKI, who has been an Armorer for more than two years and in that time has handled all types and sizes of guns, including .30 cal. guns, .50 cal. guns, and 20 mm., 37mm., and 75 mm. cannon, etc., and never as much as got a scratch on his finger, was recently seen with a large bandage on his right index finger. When asked what had happened, he explained that he'd cut his finger while spraying flies in the barracks, with a Flit gun.

WELDING SHOP

CPL. BECKER SAYS - SHE IS "EYETEEN"

Whatszat? You say we're going to get our "shots" again? Damn it! Already I'm getting weak. For an hour I'll think about it, getting more unnerved all the time, before I wobble over to the bulletin board to find out for myself. Sure enough, there it is. "Report to the dispensary at 1 p.m. without fail."

Well its chow time now and I cat mechanically. Everything tastes the same, where food ordinarily gives me strength at this time of day—this makes me all the weaker! After eating I want to lie down and rest. My head aches, my back is tired, I'm worn out.

As the "Zero hour" draws near I'm struck with hot and cold flashes alternately. That food for dinner seems but a hard knot in the pit of my stomach. Ironically, it feels as though it were chewing me!

Well, I gotta go now. There is some relief in this thought. At least it will soon he over.

I walked over with "me cobber" Jake. He talks about "Shielas," but I know he's thinking about the same thing what I am. I'm quiet while waiting in line. Jake makes a comment now and then, I never hear him.

Strip to the waist! It won't be long now, I reckon. My skin is moist, there is no turning back. I unconsciously shuffle ahead as the line moves. That damned odour: Why does that stuff have to smell like that? Here is the open door. A guy swabs both my arms with iodine. He's got a funny smirk on his face. I grin sheepishly and half stumble through. There are four or five more ahead of me. Jake's right behind me... at least he was! Oh! Oh. I shouldn't have looked. "They" shoved that needle clear into the hilt on that guy! That makes me sick! I knew better than to watch that. Did it once before when I first got in the army. I'll read the things on the wall. A chart tells me that these two shots are the first of a series of three each. No consolation there. Gee, me cobber's as white as a sheet. We're both sweating now, no one says a word ... except to answer the brief questions of the doctor. I'm next, my arm is rubbed with something. Then there's that long pause while he reaches for it. This is the shot for cholera. I've heard it was terrific. Never had it before. In fact I thought it was for hogs. Oh!—I got it now. Seems like a minute before the Doc. says "next."

The assisting corporal is handling the typhus shots. He's having to refill something and has held up three guys ahead of me. The Dr. started to shoot Jake's arm, then stopped to help the corporal. He's sweating good now, Jake is. I wonder how much experience this corporal has had. Damn it, how much longer is he going to be? Me bloody left arm hurts like hell! Both arms do now. Mighty glad that's over 'till next week anyway.

Jake and I walk on back toward camp. He talks about women. Too right, I agree!

CPL. LESLIE F. BECKER, 19039878, 81st A.D.G. Repair Squadron, A.P.O. 923, Australia.

ALRIGHT, I'M GONNA POP THE NEXT ONE THAT SAYS IT'S QUICKER TO JUMP OVER ME THAN TO GO AROUND ME!

Soldier's Discourse—To "My Old Barracks Bag"

 $\star$

In days of yore, when the world was black, To thee old shrew, to thee old sack, I clung and carried thy burdensome weight, And oft cursed thee in pangs of hate.

As my river of memory flows by me now, I remember the days of old, and how I used to cram in all my war gear, Which to me was never then dear . . .

Off to the war, ye howling sons of peace, To fight our enemies, till he will cease. His atrocities against our humans dear, Whose blood cries out in voice so clear.

Over continents I've dragged thee, bag, Behind the rest of the tireless forms; Thou wast my cross, Ye caused me to lag, Thou brought down on me a sergeant's storms.

Packed to the brim, on a shoulder raw,
How oppressive with my other gear—thou claw,
Which made my right shoulder ache in pain
And you, you miserable sack, thou didst stick to me in the rain.

Like some old lover, long cast aside, Thou hung'st on my back, my shoulders astride, I would gladly have flung thee overboard, If it were not for thy belly's item hoarde.

A cartridge belt, a rifle so near, A field bag that caused my right side to sear. As if that were not enough to make me moan, Thou, thou shrew! Caused me to fairly groan!

When I'd shift thy 80 pounds weight or more, My rifle poked my eye and made me sore, My field bag would slip a strap, And my cartridge belt would drop, what a sap!

I, a mere boy of tender years, so to speak— Under such a strain could scarcely squeak As off the boat I fairly rolled. Thou it was who pushed me—bowled. And then in the train "Thou Prude,"
With other gear and others—I was subdued;
I couldn't—not a damn inch I swear,
Everywhere I turned, thou wast there.

Grimly, to remind me of the moment when The train stop would herald the journey's end, Yes, my aching body, my, oh so frail frame Would take more oppression from thee—Oh Shrew.

Long since now, thou hast lain in dust, It's been awhile, since you, I cussed. But, bag, when I get mad as hell I'll heap on ye—miserable sack, that fell, All my pent up wrath.

CORPORAL JOHN HARRISON, 81st Supply Squadron.

To the Boys—

THANKS for your co-operation and help—first to the Photo. Lab. boys for their splendid effort; to Sgt. Guillaume, who submitted the first article for the book; to Cpl. Harrison for the poems—"For America" and "My Old Barracks Bag"; to Sgt. Hubbard for his timely advice and suggestions—we couldn't use them all—but thanks just the same; to Cpl. Harvey Luck for his infectious humor, which lessened the tension at the right times; to Eagle Farm boys—they've shown keen interest in the book all the way through; to all of you who have helped in any way in this publication, we say "Thanks a lot."
